How We Will Calculate Your Balance: We use a method called "average daily balance (including new transactions)". See your Card Agreement for further information regarding how we calculate your balance.

Billing Rights: Information on your rights to dispute transactions and how to exercise those rights is provided in your Card Agreement.

Loss of Introductory APR: We may end your introductory APR and apply the post-introductory APR if you become more than 30 days late in paying your bill.

Rates, Fees and Terms May Change: We have the right to change the account terms (including APRs) in accordance with the terms of your Card Agreement.

To receive a Firsttrust Credit Card, you must meet our applicable criteria bearing on creditworthiness. Your credit limit will be determined by the income you provided and a review of your debt listed on your credit report. You will be informed of the amount of your credit limit when you receive your card. Some credit limits may be as low as $250. Please note that cash advances may be limited to a portion of your credit limit.

BALANCE TRANSFERS: You authorize us to make one or more of the balance transfers that you have requested. All balance transfer requests are subject to our approval; we are not liable if we do not make a requested balance transfer. We reserve the right to make balance transfers in the order we select and to limit the amount of the balance transfer that we make (this amount may be less than your total credit limit). If you request an amount that we do not approve, we may process a partial transfer for less than you requested or we may decline the entire request. The amount of available credit on your new account will be reduced by the amount transferred and the related balance transfer fees. In addition, transfer requests that are incomplete, illegible or requested to cash, to yourself or to another account with us or one of our affiliates need not be processed. To protect your billing rights, do not request a balance transfer of an amount you might dispute with another creditor. Allow 4 weeks from account opening for each balance transfer. Continue paying your other creditors the amounts owed for each balance transfer you request, until you receive a billing statement from those creditors showing the requested balance transfer has been processed.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT PROCEDURES FOR OPENING A NEW ACCOUNT: To help the government fight the funding of terrorism and money laundering activities, Federal law requires all financial institutions to obtain, verify, and record information that identifies each person (including business entities) who opens an account.

What this means for you: When you open an account, we will ask for your name, physical address, date of birth, and other information that will allow us to identify you. We may ask for other identifying documents. We will let you know if additional information is required.

Firsttrust Platinum Card Terms and Conditions

Notice: The Card Agreement contains an Arbitration and Jury Trial Waiver Clause. This arbitration clause replaces the right to go to court, including the right to participate in a class action proceeding. In arbitration a dispute is resolved by an arbitrator instead of a judge or jury and are more limited than court procedure. If you do not want the arbitration proceeding to apply you will have the right to reject it by providing written notice. If you are a covered borrower pursuant to the Military Lending Act, the above-mentioned arbitration provision does not apply.

Married applicants may apply for separate Accounts in their own names.

When you give us your telephone number, including your mobile phone number, we have your permission to contact you at that number about all your Firsttrust Bank accounts. Your consent allows us to use text messaging, artificial or prerecorded voice messages and automatic dialing for informational and account service calls.
